

This tool collects information on Myanmar-focused assessments, surveys, reports and publications in development and humanitarian sectors to support agencies, government entities, researchers, donors to:

- share assessment tools (methodologies, questionnaires), and results (data, reports)
- coordinate information gathering initiatives,
- benefit from expertise, knowledge and learning in other sectors,
- avoid duplication and gaps in assessment coverage.

Over 1500 assessments and publications have been registered as of November 2019. Each entry includes details of the implementing agency, the sectors/topics and geographic areas covered, the status (whether planned, ongoing or completed), the method by which information was gathered, products available for dissemination and how they can be accessed.

The implementer/donor uploads and updates their own assessments and publications through the MIMU website or using the offline forms. MIMU shares the results in a dashboard and spreadsheet.

What it includes:

The Tracking tool includes any planned, ongoing or completed assessments, surveys, research or publications relevant to the humanitarian or development situation in Myanmar to support inter-agency efforts.

- An “assessment” is defined as a survey or other piece of research.
- A “publication” is any other published report or analysis. This could include, for example, a desk review on donor policies or the situation in a particular area.
- It does not include internal reports or donor reports of individual agencies.

New Features added for COVID-19 related Reports

- If the reports/publications/assessments done is related to COVID-19, click “Yes”.
- Predefined workstreams can be found if you type related character and can also type any other relevant workstreams.
- Relevant pillar can be typed in the text box (pillar number and Pillar name)

How information is shared:

The MIMU Assessment dashboard shows submitted assessments and publications at a glance:
